How taxes work

If you work in the U.S., you're required to pay taxes on income earned from jobs, investments and otherwise.

- Employers often withhold money from your paycheck to cover taxes
- Once a year, you must file a tax return (typically by April 15)
- If the amount withheld was too low, you may owe money
- If the amount withheld was too high, you may receive a tax refund
- A Social Security number or Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN), which is issued by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to non-U.S. citizens, is required to file a tax return

How to read a paycheck

The diagram shows a stylized paycheck with several sections. A magnifying glass is positioned over the 'Deductions' section. Numbered callouts identify key areas:

- 1 Gross pay: Located in the 'Description' column.
- 2 Deductions: A list of deductions including Federal income tax, State income tax, Social Security, and Medicare.
- 3 Health insurance, 401(k), FSA, Commuter: Additional deductions listed below the main group.
- 4 Net pay: The final amount after all deductions, located at the bottom of the 'Description' column.
